FII LEVEL 1 FREEDIVE COURSE

Whether a beginner, an informally trained freediver or a spearfisherman with years of experience, this course will set you on the right path to eliminate bad habits and teach you the most efficient and safe freediving techniques.

Once students are trained, we take the new skill set to the water for daily guided spearfishing trips.

YACHT CREW

KEN HODGINS
CAPTAIN

As the Captain of the Mrs. Happy Ken holds a 500Ton USCG Captains license. He loves being on the water as well as in the water. He has been a PADI certified scuba diver since 1994 and is an avid freediver and surfer. He grew up on his family's sailboat and sailed to the Virgin Islands after graduating from the College of Charleston and never looked back. The Virgin Islands have been his home base year round since 2006. The islands of Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands are where he has spent most of his cruising career and he knows these waters like his own backyard.

DANNY DEL VALLE FIRST MATE

Danny hails from San Juan, Puerto Rico and is fluent in English and Spanish. While the surrounding Caribbean waters are his home turf he also has experience throughout Florida and the Bahamas on a wide range of fishing and pleasure boats. He has worked as a fisherman both commercial and sport and when it comes to fishing Danny knows everything from setting the line to serving it as the main course. Danny is also USCG licensed captain and a PADI diver.

DIVE TEAM

ANTHONY DOOLEY
PHOTOGRAPHER & SPEARFISHING GUIDE

Fascinated by travel and life below the surface, Anthony Dooley began as a surf photographer in the late 90s. Since then, he has traveled through much of western Europe, Africa, Asia and Central America documenting cultures and lifestyle. Anthony's current work consists of freediving, spearfishing and general underwater photography. Presently based in Rincon, Puerto Rico, Anthony owns and operates The Uncharted Studio – an environmentally conscious screen-printing outfit, works as staff photographer for Joe Sheridan's FII Waterman Survival Training and serves as a spearfishing guide with Spearfishing Panama and Spearfishing Puerto Rico.

JOE SHERIDAN, JR
FII CERTIFIED INSTRUCTOR

Joe has always had a genuine passion for exploration and the water. He has been a PADI Divemaster, served in the US Army as an Infantry Officer and currently runs a sales rep agency in the surf/outdoor/snow industry. In 2006, he took a freediving course in Florida and was immediately hooked on breath hold diving. Joe continued to take advanced level freediving courses, compete in spearfishing tournaments and freediving competitions. As an FII instructor Joe's background and experience provides a unique and comfortable learning environment for students of all skill levels. Joe's passion for teaching this course shows in his style for an incredible learning experience.

DR. DANSE MULVIHILL
CHIROPRACTOR & DIVE SAFETY

Dr. Danse Mulvihill grew up on a sailboat in the Florida Keys. She could swim before she could walk and has been lobstering, spearfishing, and diving from an early age. Her love for adventure and the underwater world was only amplified when she started training with Joe Sheridan's Waterman Survival and Freedive training. She is FII Level 1 and 2 certified. A graduate from Palmer College of Chiropractic, Dr. Danse provides chiropractic coverage for private clients, concierge services in remote locations without chiropractic availability, and special event services catering to the needs of each patient. Many of the students in the Waterman Survival courses receive adjustment techniques that can help with equalization issues and breathing mechanics while diving.
